ANNUAL MESSAGE WARNS OF 'FOREIGN PERIL'

Britain's Army of the Nile, Counting 30,000 Prisoners, Pushes Into Libya Toward Tobruk

ITALY'S POSITION IN NORTH AFRICAN DRIVE NOW IN GRAVE PERIL

By The Associated Press
British mechanized patrols, sweeping on from the spectacular conquest of Bardia, were reported today to have established a "close blockade" of Italian forces at Tobruk—70 miles west—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's next defense line in the Libyan desert.

The armored spearhead of the British counter-offensive was said to be operating 20 miles south of Tobruk.

A dispatch from newly-captured Bardia itself quoted British military sources as saying Italy's position in all eastern Libya was in peril, with indications of growing demoralization among Premier Mussolini's North African armies.

Coincidentally, the RAF reported a fierce two-day bombing attack on Tobruk in which "many sticks of bombs were dropped on military buildings, airdromes, naval barracks and the town's defenses."

Eleven Italian planes were reported destroyed in a series of clashes over the desert.

An Australian communique listed Australian casualties in breaking the 20-day-old siege of Bardia as not more than 500, while 30,000 Italian prisoners and 50 tanks were reported captured.

Total Italian casualties in the desert campaign up to the fall of Bardia at 1:30 p. m. (6:30 a. m., EST.) yesterday were estimated at 15,000.

Premier Mussolini's High Command, in its daily war bulletin, did not mention the fate of Bardia, noting only that "more strongholds on the Bardia front have fallen into British hands."

In the Balkan crisis, some Soviet circles reported that Moscow has already warned Berlin against "a step which might seriously endanger good relations" between Russia and Germany. All communication with Rumania was cut off.

Soviet quarters in Belgrade said the summoning of Russia's ministers home from Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Hungary was definitely linked with the "new military developments in Rumania and Hungary."

German troop movements of the last week were reported to have swollen Nazi armies in the Balkans to approximately 600,000, while Russia also has massed heavy concentrations of the Red Army in nearby Bessarabia along the lower Danube.

In Berlin, foreign correspondents noted a continuance of that ominous silence in authorized Nazi quarters which preceded the major impending events, such as the beginning of the air battle of London last August.

All questions of troop movements were ruled out.

"Balkan reports that German troops will occupy Bulgaria peacefully on Jan. 8 are too silly for rejoinder," the Nazis insisted.

German night raiders struck at London with another fire-bomb assault in which the British acknowledged "many buildings were damaged and some persons killed," but the capital's newly-mobilized army of volunteers—men, women and boys—smothered the flaming incendiaries as fast as they fell and shouted defiantly, in (Turn to Page Nine)

ASSEMBLY TO MEET TUESDAY

Lawmakers Arrive Early at Harrisburg for Pre-Session Caucuses Amid General "Feel Your Way" Atmosphere Preceding Tomorrow's Start of Second Politically-Divided Legislature in Forty Years

FINANCES AND RELIEF HEAD THE PROBLEMS

Harrisburg, Jan. 6.—(P)—Legislators arrived early today for pre-session caucuses amid a general "feel your way" atmosphere preceding tomorrow's start of the second politically-divided assembly in 40 years.

The caucuses were scheduled for the evening, but unofficial parleys attracted early comers throughout the day and last night.

Speaker-elect Elmer J. Kilroy of Philadelphia and several other veterans led the Democratic house majority to the capital, while Senator Charles H. Baly, of Somerset, choice of the Republican majority in the senate as president pro tempore, held numerous weekend talks with leaders.

The New Dealers control the house by 126 to 82, while the Republicans hold a 22 to 18 margin in the senate.

The political division is the same as in 1925, which was the first time that Democrats had gained control of a branch of the legislature in more than four decades.

The 1937 assembly was dominated in both branches by Democrats, but the Republicans returned to power in 1939 and carried house and senate.

Governor James indicated he would feel his way along without making any "demands" in his message Tuesday, using the power of veto as his only brake on legislation.

Topping the problems facing the legislature are, as usual, finances and relief. The governor has hinted he will ask for another half-billion dollar budget.

High Court Hands Down Four Long-Awaited Decisions

Philadelphia, Jan. 6.—(P)—The Pennsylvania supreme court ruled today, in one of four long-awaited decisions, that the commonwealth may take over a dozen county-owned mental hospitals without compensation for investments in buildings and other real estate.

In other decisions, the tribunal:

1. Upheld a Dauphin county court decision restraining a CIO union from asserting any right against 25 Allegheny county hospitals and the State Labor Board from conducting elections among hospital employees.
2. Upheld the convictions of James P. Kirk and Victor Skok, of Pittsburgh, on charges of conspiring to monopolize the bonding business of western Pennsylvania highway contractors. The charges grew from Pennsylvania's widely-publicized campaign charges case of 1938.
3. Reversed a ruling by the Dauphin county court that a dismissed state employee was entitled to 15 days vacation pay at the time of dismissal (Turn to Page Two)

PRESIDENT DEMANDS "SWIFT AND DRIVING INCREASE IN ARMS"

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today foretold a "physical attack" on the United States "if the dictator nations win this war" in a message to congress urging a "swift and driving increase" in armament production.

The United States, the chief executive told the legislators, faces an unprecedented "foreign peril." He asked that the war supplies turned out in the swift-paced program he envisioned be made available for the fighting "democracies" abroad as well as for this country's own defense forces.

"The need of the moment," Mr. Roosevelt said in his annual message on the state of the Union, "is that our actions and our policy should be devoted primarily—almost exclusively—to meeting this foreign peril. For all our domestic problems are now a part of the great emergency."

Appearing before a joint session of House and Senate in the great House chamber, the chief executive said he would ask congress for "greatly increased new appropriations" to carry on the defense program and recommended that "a greater portion of this great defense program be paid for from taxation than we are paying today."

"I also ask this congress," he said, "for authority and for funds sufficient to manufacture additional munitions and war supplies of many kinds, to be turned over to those nations which are now in actual war with aggressor nations."

Mr. Roosevelt did not list the nations to receive help through his lend-lease plan, but in his recent fireside talk on defense he referred specifically to Britain, China and Greece.

"Such aid is not an act of war," Mr. Roosevelt asserted, "even if a dictator should unilaterally proclaim it to be."

In fulfillment of the purpose of extending aid, the president also declared, the nation "will not be intimidated by the threats of dictators that they will regard as a breach of international law and as an act of war our aid to the democracies which dare to resist their aggression."

"When the dictators are ready to make war upon us, they will not wait for an act of war on our part," he continued. "They did not wait for Norway or Belgium or the Netherlands to commit an act of war."

Mr. Roosevelt set forward in three points what he described as "our national policy" in this time of "serious danger" and he also proclaimed the principles of "four essential human freedoms" to which "we look forward" in "the future days."

The "national policy" the president stated as:

"First, by an impressive expression of the public will and without regard to partisanship, we are committed to all-inclusive national defense."

"Second, by an impressive expression of the public will and without regard to partisanship, we are committed to full support of all those resolute peoples, everywhere, who are resisting aggression and are thereby keeping war away from our hemisphere. By this support, we express our determination that the democratic cause shall prevail; and we strengthen the defense and security of our own nation."

"Third, by an impressive expression of the public will and without regard to partisanship, we are committed to the proposition that principles of morality and considerations for our own security will never permit us to acquiesce in a peace dictated by aggressors and sponsored by appeasers. We know that enduring peace cannot be bought at the cost of other people's freedom."

The "four essential human freedoms" were described by the president as "the very antithesis of the so-called new order of tyranny which the dictators seek to create with the crash of a bomb."

He described these "freedoms" as:

"The first is freedom of speech and expression everywhere in the world."

"The second is freedom of every person to worship God in his own way—everywhere in the world."

THREE DAYLIGHT SIRENS SOUNDED IN LONDON TODAY

By The Associated Press
London, Jan. 6.—(P)—German raiders, following up a new overnight fire bomb attack on London, raided the capital again today in daylight and bombs were reported to have fallen in three districts.

By mid-afternoon the sirens had wailed three air raid alarms. The third was preceded by the sound of gunfire in some areas.

Until yesterday, when one alert sounded, there had not been a daylight alarm in London for many weeks.

During today's second alarm, six (Turn to Page Nine)

Several New Bodies Named By Churchill

London, Jan. 6.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill today named three new government executive bodies to take charge of Britain's production, imports and post-war reconstruction policy.

The assignments are:

Production — Labor Minister Ernest Bevin.

Imports — Minister of Supply Sir Andrew Duncan.

Reconstruction policy — Arthur Greenwood, Minister without portfolio.

The prime minister named as members of Sir Andrew's committee: Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production; A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty; Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, president of the board of trade, and Lord Woolton, minister of food.

The changes in the government machinery were described as aimed at "more rapid and decisive action."

PROMINENT MASON DIES

Harrisburg, Jan. 6.—(P)—Funeral services for Andrew S. Patterson, 65, treasurer general of the Supreme Council of Masonry and prominent Harrisburg banker for 45 years, will be held here tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. Patterson, vice-president of the Capital Bank and Trust Company, collapsed in his office Saturday and died six hours later in Polytechnic hospital.

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION AT A GLANCE

By The Associated Press
British press forward: British conquerors of Bardia, Italian Libyan base, reported to have established a "close blockade" of Fascists at Tobruk, next Italian stronghold 70 miles westward. British report capture of 30,000 prisoners. Italian High Command fails to note fate of Bardia in communique.

Greeks report gains: Greek command reports "considerable" gains but admits Italian resistance is sharp, fighting much more severe.

London bombed again: Nazi raiders renew bombing of London after raids which damaged "many buildings" and killed "some persons." RAF reported to have bombed docks at Brest.

Balkans jittery: Soviet circles link summoning of Russian envoys home from Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Hungary as linked with "new military developments in Rumania and Hungary." German official quarters in Belgrade say Russia has agreed to permit Germany to take over Bulgaria.

Diplomatic moves: Ireland charge d'affaires visits German foreign office in Berlin to present government's views of alleged German flights over Ireland. Admiral Leahy, new U. S. ambassador to France, visits Foreign Minister Flandin at Vichy.

Sentences From President's Talk

Washington, Jan. 6.—(P)—Some sentences from President Roosevelt's annual message to congress: I address you x x x at a moment unprecedented in the history of the Union. I use the word "unprecedented" because at no previous time has American security been so seriously threatened from without as it is today.

No realistic American can expect from a dictator's peace international generosity, or return of true independence, or world disarmament, or freedom of expression, or freedom of religion—or even good business.

As a nation we take pride in the fact that we are soft-hearted; but we cannot afford to be soft-headed.

The first phase of the invasion of this hemisphere would not be the landing of regular troops. The necessary strategic points would be occupied by secret agents and their dupes—and great numbers of them are already here, and in Latin America. (Turn to Page Nine)

FOUR DEATHS IN STATE RESULT OF FRIGID BLAST

By The Associated Press
A slight let-up in the wintry blast that whipped across Pennsylvania over the weekend and contributed to at least four deaths, was in prospect for the state today.

Though due to go higher than yesterday, temperatures were expected to remain below freezing. Light snow flurries interspersed with cloudiness were predicted for most parts of the state.

Temperatures were uniformly sub-freezing throughout the state Sunday, ranging from a winter's record of 7 above at Pittsburgh to a high of 30 at Philadelphia and 32 at York.

Driving was hazardous on some northwestern Pennsylvania roads and highway crews busied themselves with snow plows and cinders.

Brief snow storms blanketed parts of eastern Pennsylvania, and Harrisburg had a freak snow storm accompanied by thunder and lightning Saturday.

The lowest temperature recorded at Philadelphia yesterday was 19, second lowest of the winter, while at Harrisburg the temperature varied from 17 to 27 degrees. At Allentown the average was 20 and at Reading 26.

An unidentified man and an unidentified woman died of exposure in Philadelphia, and wintry (Turn to Page Nine)

FOOTBALL STAR IS INJURED IN BLAZE IN HOME

David Alderdice, Princeton University Athlete, in Hospital With Father As Result of Fire in Which Mother and Brother Are Killed

CAUSE IS UNREVEALED

Indianapolis, Jan. 6.—(P)—Two members of the David Alderdice, Sr., family—the mother and young son—were dead today and the father and 22-year-old son, a Princeton University football star, are in Methodist hospital, as a result of a fire in their northside duplex apartment yesterday.

Overcome by smoke from the fire of undetermined origin, the mother, Mrs. Cornelia Kaeshey Alderdice, 43, and eight-year-old Anthony died of suffocation.

The senior Alderdice, who is vice-president of an Indianapolis meat packing firm, was burned on his head, face, feet and back while David, Jr., suffered burns on his face and neck. Another son, John, 19, University of Michigan freshman, was not at home.

David, Jr., who arrived in Indianapolis Saturday from San Francisco where he played in the East-West charity football game on New Year's day, discovered the fire when he came home shortly before 5 a. m. His cries of warning aroused members of the family in the first floor apartment. (Turn to Page Eight)

LOCAL SERVICE STATION HELD UP BY ARMED YEGGS

Authorities are today searching for two robbers who last night held up an attendant at the Motor Lighthouse service station, corner of Pennsylvania and Conewango avenues, and stole about $90 from the cash register.

The thieves had entered the station shortly before ten o'clock on the pretext of getting warm, but were delayed in their plans by the presence of Patrolman Wallace Outrid of the local police force.

As soon as the officer had resumed his beat one of the pair produced a revolver and ordered the attendant, Edwin S. Africa, to turn over his key to the cash register. Africa complied and was forced into a rest room which opens off the station.

Evidently unfamiliar with the mechanics of the register, the hold-up men had to enlist Africa's assistance, and while he was opening the drawer, the employee suggested the robbers leave him enough silver to make change. The men obligingly left several dollars in coins after removing all of the bills and a quantity of change.

Africa was then ordered back into the rest room, but as soon as the men left the station he called the police. Chief Haehn, Night Captain Eckardt and patrolmen immediately started a search which proved fruitless.

Civil and Naval Officials, Poking Through Scattered Wreckage of $120,000 Transport Plane, Find Ship Almost Escaped Tragedy

WEATHER IS BLAMED

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 6.—(P)—Civil and naval officials, poking through the scattered wreckage of a $120,000 navy transport plane, asserted today that had the big ship been flying 20 feet higher it would have cleared the rugged Mother Grundy range and reached its destination only 20 miles away with all 11 occupants safe.

Among those killed was Lieut. James Cyril Flemming, 35, of Reading, Pa.

The navy arranged for an official investigation of the crash that killed everybody aboard, including four who had escaped death only last Thursday in a Texas bomber mishap.

Civilian aviation observers generally blamed weather conditions. A low ceiling and dense fog made flying conditions hazardous. In the area, some 35 miles southeast of here, and reports of neighboring ranchers led to belief the pilot might have gotten off his radio beam.

Residents of the Simpson ranch two miles from White Mountain, the crash scene, said they heard a plane being "gunned" to gain altitude. (Turn to Page Two)

GIVES NO REASON FOR KILLING GIRL

Pittsburgh, Jan. 6.—(P)—County Detective Frank Ritz reported today a 29-year-old father of three children, held in the slaying of 17-year-old Mary Tropeck in the nearby mining village of Star Line, told detectives "I don't know why I done it."

Ritz said the WPA worker, jailed on a district attorney's detainer pending filing of charges, admitted killing the girl Friday night by striking her on the head with an empty wine bottle, then stuffing her body in an abandoned mine.

The suspect said he gave the girl a quarter to stay with his children while he and his wife were shopping, related Ritz. When returned, the man left with the girl to accompany her down a path towards her home. He told (Turn to Page Nine)

Favorable Weather Promised for Warren's Twelfth Night Exercises and Tree Burning

Warmer weather has contributed the final factor for the big "Twelfth Night" celebration at Beatty Field tonight. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts worked busily on Saturday piling the trees which had been collected for the huge bonfire. Another group of boys and girls will finish the job this afternoon.

The king and queen of "Twelfth Night," with their court are ready to receive the homage of all participants in the joyous close of the holiday season.

At 6:45 o'clock all Girl Scouts will assemble at the corner of Conewango avenue and Fifth street to form the escort for the king and queen. At seven, the procession will start to the site of the bonfire.

IN NICK OF TIME
An attempt by small boys to set off the big pile of Christmas greens, set for tonight's celebration at Beatty Field, was foiled last night through quick action on the part of a senior. About six o'clock, "Tut" Babbitt was driving by the field when he saw flames mounting from the pile and quickly extinguished them. Police protection for the remainder of the night saved the main feature of the celebration. Several previous attempts to set off the pile have been unsuccessful, but kerosene was used in the final effort.

Local Hiking Club Holds Weekly Trip

The Allegheny Hiking Club had another exhilarating winter trip yesterday with twenty-two hikers in the group, two of these being newcomers. The driving snow and sharp wind changed the plans for yesterday's hike and the Kinzua trip was postponed for a time when it would be possible to enjoy the views from the Coal Knob ridge. The trip instead began at the foot of the hill in Pleasant township and the group walked to the top of the hill on Route 337 and then circled left through the woods near the head of Wolf run, Trout run, Morrison run, and Sil run, coming out on the old Nesmith road near the starting point.

The hiking time consumed three hours and twenty minutes and everyone reported a most enjoyable trip.

VINCENT LOPEZ AND HIS ORCHESTRA AT THE LIBRARY TUESDAY—ONE DAY ONLY

Vincent Lopez, piano-playing maestro of Mutual Broadcasting's "Show of the Week," is still stopping the show with his piano wizardry. In hotel and night club appearances guests still crowd around him every time he does a piano solo.

3,000,000 people thrilled to his pianistic performances at Billy Rose's Aquacade at the New York World's Fair this year and witnessed the fastest fingering of piano keys around today. Lopez's digits, Bob Ripley once cartooned, can move over a piano keyboard at tremendous rate of 2,200 notes a minute. Lopez's piano maneuvering made "Nola" and "Kitten on the Keys" famous. He uses the latter infrequently now, but "Nola" will always be an important part of his offerings. It's his theme song and a few bars of it are to be detected in all his arrangements.

Lopez came upon "Nola" quite accidentally. He had just been signed for his first appearance on the stage of the Palace Theatre, New York, then the mecca of vaudevillians the world over. Naturally he wanted to make the most of this great opportunity. So he made a personal tour of the various publishing houses in search of unique material for his band.

Miss Katherine Joyce, who still is in the music business, by the way, interviewed him at one of the places he stopped. She suggested "Nola." Lopez told her he had listened to a record of the number and didn't think it would be suitable. But Miss Joyce was persistent and Lopez walked out of the office with the composition under his arm. He tried it on the piano that night and took an immediate shine at it. When he opened at the Palace, "Nola" was his featured piano solo. It drew rare notices from the critics and has been close to his heart ever since.

YESTERDAY: David's Aunt Julia has left him all she had to leave, which is a bankrupt tin. But she also suggested that he propose once more to Polly, and now David and Polly are exploring ways to bring Polly to marriage. The only new thing in town, meanwhile, is the return of glamorous Margo Powers, the daughter of David's employer.

Chapter Four Aunt Susan

"We might transplant some of these ferns down nearer the Inn," said Polly. "And another thing, David; I think it would be fun to work on those flower beds. I can see the remains of a lot of flowers of different sorts. Let's dig away the weeds and vines, and see if we can get the beds to blooming again."

"What for?" said David. "Just so the weeds and vines can get some exercise from growing back again?"

"No," said Polly. "How do you know but what if we get the flowers to blooming again, their color will attract attention? Maybe some man with money will see them, and decide to investigate."

"Okay, honey," said David. "We'll come out and work after dinner—now that the days are getting longer. But," he added, pulling Polly down beside him beneath a wide-spreading oak, "let's forget all that for the moment. Are you ready to hear that 'stealthy proposal of mine'?"

"Yes, David, but—"

"No, but!" David slipped his arm about Polly's waist, drew her closer to him. "When are you going to marry me, Polly?"

"Listen, David," Polly began. "We oughtn't to marry until we can do it without having to worry about other people, and—"

"All right, we'll stop worrying about other people," said David. "Anyway, Aunt Julia has the last of my relatives or relatives-in-law—or so far as I now see was to the last of them to keep you and me from living our own lives."

"There's my Aunt Susan," Polly reminded. "She's a dependent relative."

"Sure, I know," said David. "She's a good sort. You and she can move into the Wiley cottage on Elm Street with me. Maybe you can rent your aunt's house, and a lot of people are coming to Ardendale to work in the lumber plant. It would give Aunt Susan a small income and keep her from feeling she was a burden."

He put his finger under Polly's chin, lifted her head and looked down into her eyes. "I'm sure we can manage. Sweetness," he said, his voice husky with longing. "I'm willing to take a chance. Won't you?"

Polly was thoughtful. She smiled.

"Maybe we could do it," she said. "Only I hope for you to start helping support my relatives. You've always had an aunt or an uncle of your own on your hands. David, and—and—it doesn't seem fair for you to take in my aunt."

"Polly, do you love me?"

"Yes, David. You're always asking me that."

"All right, then—what's the most important, your love for me and mine for you, or your Aunt Susan?"

"Silly!" said Polly. "Our love is the most important."

"Then it's settled. We get married. You and Aunt Susan can take over my cottage just as soon as you name the date."

Polly snuggled up to David. "Oh, darling," she said. "I do hope we're not doing the wrong thing."

"Certainly we're not," said David with emphasis. "Now, when do we marry? Tomorrow—Sunday—when?"

"Not tomorrow," said Polly. "I want a little more time to get ready."

"Saturday?" said David. "Next Saturday afternoon? I don't work on Saturday afternoons, you know."

"All right, David," Polly said very softly. "Next Saturday afternoon."

"Gosh!" said David. He gave Polly a hug. "At last! Just one more week and you'll be Mrs. David Wiley!"

Plans

"MRS. DAVID WILEY," said Polly, teasing the sound of the words. "I hope Aunt Susan won't mind too much."

"Why should she?" said David. "It's our affair, not hers. Besides, you always said she liked me."

"She does, David," Polly said. "She likes you a lot."

"Then there's nothing to worry about."

"Only Aunt Susan is a little set in her ways," Polly went on. "I mean she's cooked all the meals, and run her own house so long, she'll want to cook for us, and run our house."

"Our house," David corrected. "Well, what if she does? I don't mind. Do you?"

"No," said Polly. "That is, I don't mind for a while. Not while I'm working at the rooming."

"Which reminds me," said David, "that I don't like the idea of my wife working."

"That's silly, David," Polly told him. "Lots of young couples work now; they have to, in order to marry and establish a home. I don't mind working. And I think I should keep on with my job, until you sort of get on your feet."

DEFENSE CLASS OF PENN STATE TO START SOON

Classes in the Engineering Defense Training Program will start in Warren January 14, at the Warren High School, under the auspices of Penn State College. Courses in engineering drafting; production engineering, elementary tool design, and elementary machine design will be offered if there is sufficient demand for them to provide classes which can be conducted efficiently.

Minimum qualifications for admission to these courses will be graduation from a regular four year high school course. Additional experience in fields allied to the courses taken will be desirable and in some instances necessary.

The purpose of the elementary engineering drafting course will be to provide training in reading and understanding drawings of various kinds and in drawing and dimensioning objects in such a way that they can be easily made. In addition the course will review the application of mathematics in simple engineering applications. The application of descriptive geometry in solving engineering problems will also be covered.

The purpose of the course in production engineering will be to provide training for those men now engaged in the production of materials and equipment in national defense to enable them to speed up production and keep cost at a minimum. Production methods and the application of time study will be treated and the relationship of these methods to economy of production studied.

The purpose of the course in elementary tool design will be to provide training in the design of simple jigs, dies, fixtures, special tools and special machines particularly as applied to defense industries.

The purpose of the course in elementary machine design will be to provide training of distinct practical use to designers of machinery and tools in defense industries. A review of mechanics and mechanisms as well as strength of materials will be given. Simple beams, columns, and struts, riveted joints and combined stresses will be studied as well as the elements of kinematics as applied to machine design.

Instructors in these courses will be capable men from local industries and the project is under the direction of E. L. Keller, director of engineering extension, State College. Local arrangements are being made by J. H. Kirk, Penna. State College district representative, of Erie. He will be assisted by Alfred Maurer, of Warren.

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—"Mama" Thury is a gal with the glow of the Budapest cafes in her eyes and the footloose urge of 29 jitterbugs in her feet.

She is 75 years old, but that doesn't keep her from leaping in glee her feet when the strains of "Old Man Mose" rise above the clatter of the goulash dishes every night at Zimmerman's Hungarian and throwing herself into a spasm of rhythmic gyrations that are the amazement of all.

When "Mama" wants to write a letter she signs herself Hony Kom-yessy Thury (Thury is her married name). She was three weeks old when Lee turned Traveler into the yard of a certain cottage house at Appomattox, Va. Her husband was a bell maker in Hungary and still is a tool maker. They have one son who is 42, another 40, and a daughter who herself has a daughter of 12.

"Mama" is easily the spriest of the lot.

"I've been smoking for 50 years," she says, "and how still I was not to start earlier. Makes the time pass better when you're riding in taxicabs."

AS THE dancing star of a cafe floor show, she must also find time to keep house for the family, cook breakfast, relax a little and keep abreast of the times. "Maybe I get five hours sleep at night. I know I never get more than that."

As you can see, siesta is not one of "Mama's" habits.

"Well," says "Mama," "this is a good life. This is a good land. And this is the best Hungarian restaurant in this side of the Danube. I've seen in the U. S. 35 years and just try and get lost. I was one of the founders of the

Every Raid on London Brings Scenes Like This

Now you know why they're called "smoke eaters." Their faces thrust into the still smoldering ruins of a London building, members of a British rescue party frantically search for a trapped victim of German bombers. No gas mask or other protection from smoke.

Hollywood Sights & Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—"Arizona." Screenplay by Claude Binyon from the story by Clarence B. Kelland. Directed by Wesley Ruggles. Principals: Jean Arthur, William Holden, Warren William, Porter Hall, Paul Harvey, George Chandler, Regis Toomey, Edgar Buchanan.

The covered wagons still roll westward across the screen, and this time it's to the primitive village of pioneer Tucson, where there's plenty of unlawful goings-on to worry any honest man or woman in this picture, it's Phoebe Titus (Arthur) who does most of the worrying until a new wagon train brings handsome Peter Muncie (Holden) into the cause.

Phoebe, the first American woman in the village, makes her living baking pies but has her eye on the biggest ranch in the Arizona territory. She's a tough one, is Phoebe, fully able to take care of herself against all comers, but when Muncie comes to town the woman in her begins to show.

Through Arizona's desert by the Union in the Civil War, through its temporary adoption by the Confederacy, through its return to the Stars and Stripes, Phoebe almost single-handedly fights for her freight business against wily Lazarus Ward (Hall) who is in cahoots with the Indians and with slick Mister Carteret (William). With Peter's help, Phoebe comes to glory, gets her ranch and finally waits after the wedding to snoot it out with the bridegroom.

Western spectacle in the grand Ruggles manner and loaded with authenticity and "production," the film entertains nicely. Tops for excitement is the cattle stampede sequence; tops for "phony" incredulity is the final shooting scrape, during which the tense little bride controls her nerves—or shows she hasn't—by ordering up a mess of groceries while she's waiting for the outcome.

WARREN COUNTY DIRECT RELIEF ROLLS INCREASE

Direct relief rolls in Warren county showed a net increase of ten cases during the week ending December 28, according to information received today from Howard L. Russell, state secretary of public assistance. The increase, which was the result of opening 13 cases and closing only three, brought the total to 211 cases, representing 654 persons.

Of the 13 cases opened four lost private employment, two lost WPA jobs and 7 were opened for miscellaneous reasons. Of the three cases closed all obtained work on WPA projects.

Cost of relief in the county during the week was $1,169.07. In the state the final week of 1940 saw Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls moved upward for the third time in as many weeks as the load registered a net increase of 768 cases. At the end of the year, however, general assistance rolls throughout the state carried a total of 137,936 cases—a drop of 66,000 cases from the approximate total of 204,000 cases carried on the rolls at the end of 1939.

Following are the figures for some nearby counties:

Clarion—Cases, 252, increase, 11, cost, $1,562.40.

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

I was busy writing this series of articles in the famous old Hamilton Bridge Club in Philadelphia, when I suddenly realized that I was alone. The afternoon game had broken up and the members had gone home.

As I strolled through the different rooms and saw the vacant tables, I could imagine the old-timers discussing the soundness of the Deschamps Coup or the Bath Coup, whether the game of auction would replace whist, whether contract bridge would last the year out. You know, there were many who predicted that contract would have only a short life, and none realized it would become the popular game it is today.

Contract is popular because it is both a bidding game and a playing game. In the days of auction only a good card player got the most enjoyment out of it. Today if you bid your hand correctly there is some self-satisfaction even if you don't make the contract.

Take today's hand for example. It takes good bidding to arrive at the correct contract. It is a little difficult to make but you can make it, and even if you go down, you are not entirely disappointed.

East led "from nothing" because he thought West might hold strength in the suit. Dummy won with the king and cashed the ace of trumps, revealing the bad break.

Then followed the queen and ace of diamonds, the ace and king of spades and a spade ruff by North. The king of hearts led South in to lead the three of trumps for a marvellous finesse.

North cashed the heart ace and led the fourth diamond for South to ruff with the king of trumps. West's last two trumps fell in a "puck-up."

New Year's Wedding
Unites Well Known
County Young People

Announcement is made today of a very lovely New Year's Day wedding which took place in the Sugar Grove Mission church, when, at two o'clock, Rev. Levi Hagberg united in marriage Effie Marie Swanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Swanson, Sugar Grove, R. D. 3, and Charles Foulkrod, son of Rev. Foulkrod, of Kinzua.

While the guests were assembling, a piano recital was played by Everett Landin, concluding with the wedding march, Harold Landin sang "I Love You Truly".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in light blue wool crepe, complemented by a headpiece of white flowers and a bouquet of pink and white carnations and pink pompons. Her only attendant was Miss Myrna Milepaw, who wore pink crepe.

Carl Swanson, brother of the bride, acted as best man, with Arnold and Franklin Hagberg as ushers.

About 30 relatives and friends attended the reception at the Swanson home. The bride's table, laid for eight, was set with a pink glass service, gift of her parents, and a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple, was made by her mother. Those who served were Irene Koenig, Janet Mack, Felice and Esther Hagberg, assisted by Mrs. Vivian Hanson, of Warren. Appointments were carried out in blue and white. The couple received many lovely gifts from the guests, who came from Franklinville, Falconer, Jamestown and Gerry, N. Y., Kinzua, Warren and other nearby places.

Following a short wedding trip, the newlyweds will reside at Kinzua, where Mr. Foulkrod has employment in the Sheldon Handle Factory.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wellman, of Ashville, N. Y., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorian, to Arthur Lind, of Youngsville, the ceremony having been performed at the bride's home on New Year's Eve by the Rev. C. Donald Dibble, pastor of the United Brethren church at Youngsville.

The bride wore a street length frock of beige crepe with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Albert Bowen, of Ashville, as her mother of honor, wore dark blue and a carnation corsage. Mr. Bowen was Mr. Lind's best man.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at Gretchen's Kitchen in Jamestown, N. Y. Mr. Lind is employed by the National Forge and Ordnance Company at Irvine.

Has History
Repeated?

One of the most dramatic rumors to come out of the war's strict censorship involved about the famed Count Felix von Luckner, above, World War Skipper of the German raider "Sea Devil." Reports state that von Luckner is in command of the German raider (possibly a former British ship) which has played havoc with British shipping in the Pacific.

CAPITAL GOSSIP

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Sometime after the new Congress convenes, a six-foot-five, 900-pound bronze statue of the late Huey Long will be unveiled in the national Capitol's statuary hall, but it may be that just half of Louisiana's delegation to Congress will have anything to do with this recognition and high honor accorded the state's onetime "kingfish."

By federal statute, each state is allowed to place one statue in statuary hall—once the old chamber of the House of Representatives—and a second in the Capitol corridors. After Huey's death and during the regime of his brother as governor, the legislature set aside $15,000 for the bronze figure and Sculptor Charles Keck, of New York was commissioned to turn it out.

Since Louisiana has no other statue in the Capitol, Huey's gets the honored spot in the hall. A few weeks ago it arrived and was placed on its four-foot pedestal between representations of William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska and the senior Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin.

Distinguishing Company
VIEWING the spot marked for the Long statue, one has to do no more than turn one's head to view the distinguished company Huey will keep there—Robert E. Lee or Virginia, Daniel Webster of New Hampshire, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, Henry Clay of Kentucky, Roger Williams of Rhode Island, Confederate President Jefferson Davis and a dozen more.

If it hadn't been for President Roosevelt's third inauguration, dedication of the statue already would have taken place while the old Long delegation still was intact. Those in charge of arrangements were afraid the statue could not be brought into the Capitol while passages were blocked with inauguration stands. When the statue arrived and was brought in, it was too late to get the delegation together.

Delegation Split
It will be unveiled, so members of the old Long groups still in Congress say, soon after the first of the year. But here is where a strange factor comes in. In the state political battle between the Longs and the anti-Longs in the November election, five "antis" were elected to the House. The five new members all are opposed to the old regime. The two senators, John H. Overton and Allen J. Ellender both were elected during the time when the Long machine was in power. They were not up for re-election in November.

Barnes
Jack Smith, who is in the U. S. army and stationed at Mitchell Field, Long Island, spent Friday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Roberts.

Mrs. W. H. Brandt spent the last several days of the week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hauptin at Youngsville.

Conn's Pilot Charges N. B. A. With Attempted Title Theft

John Ray Threatens To Sue Promoters Of 'Championship Fight'

Pittsburgh, Jan. 6.—(P)—Manager Johnny Ray charged today that the National Boxing Association was trying to "take away" Billy Conn's light heavyweight championship despite his willingness to defend the title.

He threatened to sue promoters of next week's fight at Cleveland between Mello Bettina and Anton Christoforidis unless they stop advertising the match as a light-heavyweight championship affair.

"They've got no right to do that," Ray said. "We won that title in the ring and we're ready to defend it in the ring against a worthy opponent. We're not giving it up."

The NBA has recognized the Bettina-Christoforidis fight as a title match, holding the Pittsburgh Irishman relinquished the crown by failing to defend it within six months and by signing for a heavyweight championship bout with Joe Louis.

JOHNNY RAY

Welcoming Ray's threat, Bob Brickman, attorney and promoter of the Cleveland fight, declared it gave him "the biggest bite I've received since I broke into the boxing game. It will be a real pleasure to go to bat on it."

Ray announced after signing for the Louis bout last month that Conn would relinquish his title "but right now I'm not ready to say when."

Now he declares that "if there are no worthy opponents, we will give up the crown when Louis whips Red Burman and we are assured of a fight with him in June."

Ray claimed he offered to defend the championship against Tommy Tucker in Chicago, but that NBA President Joe Triner wouldn't sanction the match, adding:

"That answers the statement that we refused to defend within six months. Now they want to take the title away from Conn. They can't do that."

Perry is an alcoholic beverage made from pears, popular in parts of France and England.

Early American Bowling

FIRST MENTION OF BOWLING IN AMERICA IS CITED IN WASHINGTON IRVING'S 'RIP VAN WINKLE'... THERE WAS SCARCELY A TAVERN IN THE COLONY OF NEW AMSTERDAM WITHOUT ITS WOODEN OR STONE PLATFORM WHEREON THE DUTCH BURGERS MIGHT COMPETE AT A GAME OF SKITTLES...

BOWLING GAINED REAL POPULARITY ABOUT 1835... GAMBLERS HORNED IN AND CONDITIONS BECAME SO BAD THAT THE LEGISLATURES OF CONNECTICUT, MASSACHUSETTS AND NEW YORK PASSED LAWS FORBIDDING THE GAME OF SKITTLES... GAMBLERS GOT AROUND THE LAW BY ADDING A PIN TO THE MODERN GAME.

PRIOR TO 1895 BOWLING ALLEYS WERE FREQUENTED BY HUSTLERS, TOUTS, HANGERS-ON, CHEAP GAMBLERS, ETC. TEAMS PERMITTED THEMSELVES TO BE BEATEN RATHER THAN TAKE AN INEVITABLE BEATING ON LEAVING THE ESTABLISHMENT.

ON SEPT. 9, 1895 THOMAS CURTIN, FATHER OF MODERN BOWLING, MET WITH OTHERS AND FORMED THE AMERICAN BOWLING CONGRESS... THEY STANDARDIZED ALLEYS, AND EQUIPMENT BECAME UNIFORM AS TO SIZE AND DESCRIPTION.

LEADERSHIP IN TOURNEY TAKEN BY JIM THOMSON

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—(P)—Once again Jimmy Thomson's long range golf shots dominated the annual Los Angeles Open today, but the blond slugger from Chicopee, Mass., was hard pressed to annex his second championship and the top prize of the $10,000 purse as the field pressed closely behind going into the last round of the event.

Thomson, shooting a par 71 yesterday, moved into the final 18 holes with a total score of 211. No less than seven top ranking rivals were within four strokes of his skimp.

"The nearest, one stroke behind, was Chicago's Johnny Bulla, who took the lead after the second round and surrendered it yesterday through the combination of a none too good round and a two-stroke penalty imposed when he played Jug McSpaden's ball instead of his own on the first hole.

Bulla wound up with a 75 for 212, and none too happily said he did not want to discuss the incident further.

McSpaden, whose other partner in a threesome was Byron Nelson, declared he knew nothing about the mistake until it was over, and added it was "Bulla's own fault."

Just behind Bulla, with 213, were Denny Shute, the former P. G. A. king, now on a complete comeback after a long layoff, and Willie Goggin, once of San Francisco, now of Miami, Fla., whose 68 was the lowest of yesterday's rain-hampered round.

Immediately behind with 214 were Clayton Heafner, Linville, N. C., and Ben Hogan, White Plains, N. Y., whose 70 put him back in the running. A shot back were Lawson Little, National Open and defending champion, and Craig Wood, Mamaroneck, N. Y. Little created a stir yesterday when he four-putted the eighteenth green, a record for the tournament.

According to the latest report, approximately 86 per cent of the motor trucks registered in the United States are privately owned.

At the end of the first nine months of 1940, traffic accidents were 7 per cent higher than during the same period of last year.

COLLEGE COURT Promising Receiver Signed By Bucs And BY VILLANOVA Farmed To Pony Loop

New York, Jan. 3.—(P)—The college football clans of the country get down to their sectional feuding in full force this week.

Except for a few stragglers stopping off on their way home, all of the touring teams have completed their barnstorming business, leaving intersectional honors for the most part, in dispute.

A handful of outstanding combinations stood up through the holiday duelling with unscathed records and must be considered the nation's leaders at this time.

In the East this group includes Villanova with ten victories, New York University with seven, Temple with six and Duquesne with five.

In the Mid-West Iowa alone of the Big Ten is unbeaten with six successes and Toledo tops the independents with eight.

Iowa State has stepped out in front of the Big Six with seven straight non-conference conquests.

Richmond is leading the Southern Conference hopelessly with five. But in the Southwest, the Rocky Mountain and the Pacific Coast there isn't a major combination that hasn't been beaten.

In addition, Long Island, Indiana, Purdue, DePaul, North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Colorado State, Arkansas, Stanford and Oregon State are top-notch teams that have been beaten only once.

This week's packed program will have a tempestuous opening to night with Temple facing Michigan State, the combination that ended Long Island's string of nine consecutive victories Saturday night with a 31-26 upset.

Italy's Position In North African Drive Now In Grave Peril

(From Page One)
The words of Oliver Twist: "We want some more!"

An Associated Press correspondent who witnessed the surrender of Bardia said Australian shock troops leading the assault charged into Italian fire shouting the chorus of "We're Off to See the Wizard, The Wonderful Wizard of Oz!"

The correspondent said that 2,000 Italian soldiers fled out of a cave at the command of a single Australian officer and five infantrymen, and that, while some of the Fascist prisoners looked dejected, others marched away under guard singing Neapolitan airs.

London military circles expressed some doubt whether Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of the British army of the Nile, would press his offensive deeper into Libya, but there was no such indication of a halt in today's communique by Wavell's command.

While clearance of the battlefield at Bardia is progressing, it is said, "advanced elements of our forces now are approaching the Tobruk area."

The British command said prisoners counted at Bardia numbered more than 30,000, with "quantities of tanks, guns, equipment and stores of all sorts."

tion by Republican John C. Kunkel. Defeated for county commissioner in the primaries of 1939, Swope was appointed to the Puerto Rican auditing post shortly after.

He served as Democratic county chairman in 1934 and 1935 and for a short time was budget secretary for former Governor Earle.

A native of Meckville, Berks county, Swope was graduated from Kutztown State Teachers College and taught school until former President Woodrow Wilson's administration when he was appointed a revenue agent. He is 48.

Dainger is said to have built the first V-type engine in 1888.

wise have proposed bills to introduce.

Major proposals include:
1. Workmen's compensation amendments to increase benefits.
2. Unemployment compensation amendments to cut the waiting period from three to two weeks, alter other regulations.
3. Milk control law change to prohibit consignment contracts between a dealer and producer.
4. Liquor law amendments to revise the status of clubs, possibly permit hotels to remain open until 2 a. m. Sunday morning.
5. Anthracite legislation, dealing with mine caves, and possibly a revised Kane bill to regulate the industry.
6. Legislation to combat subversive elements as part of the defense program.

The house Democrats and their minority colleagues in the senate scheduled the main caucus in the house caucus room at 8 p. m., with organization, and resolutions for the opening session the principal order of business, Kilroy said.

Rep. Harry P. O'Neill, veteran of seven sessions, will announce at 11 a. m. Tuesday the convening of the house at noon. At 12 the house will organize with the senate performing the same function in its chamber.

The two branches will hold a joint session in mid-afternoon to receive the governor's address.

The speaker-elect said the assembly probably would adjourn until the following Monday night after the governor's message, and would meet two days a week for the time being.

Committee posts would be filled by next Monday night.

fire, where a throne will be waiting for the monarch and his consort.

Torch bearers will carry red fire to lend color to the scene and a jester will play his pranks to delight and annoy the spectators.

Girl Scouts are asked to carry flashlights if they can, that their twinkling will add a will-o-the-wisp effect.

Courtiers clothed in red and green will be followed by pages carrying the crowns which will be placed upon the heads of the monarchs-for-a-night by a representative of the Warren Chamber of Commerce and the Times-Mirror.

Crowned and seated on his throne, the king will command that the fire be lighted. Hundreds of families who took down their Christmas decorations with regret after enjoying their beauty during the holiday season will see the final glory of their passing.

As the fire dies down, the king and queen will rise, the whole audience will join in singing "God Bless America" and the royal court will depart to the strains of "Auld Lang Syne," followed by taps.

Football Star Is Injured In Blaze In Home

where the blaze was reported to have started.

Investigators theorized that David, Jr. then rushed into his home to awaken his parents and the three went into another bedroom to arouse Anthony.

The elder Allerdice collapsed and David, Jr. was overcome as he attempted to carry him from the burning building. Firemen, who fought the blaze in a temperature of five degrees above zero, carried the four outside. Deputy Coroner James Leffel said that Mrs. Allerdice and Anthony had died of suffocation and that their bodies were not burned.

Mrs. W. H. Allerdice, a sister-in-law, said blood transfusions were given to the elder Allerdice. Neither he nor David, Jr. were in condition to reconstruct the story of the fire.

BLIGH'S 3600-Mile Escape Was Feat of Seamanship

WHEN mutineers of the Bounty set Captain William Bligh and 18 loyal men adrift in an open boat with only scant supplies of food and water, they never expected him to reach land. But he did—sailing 3618 miles to Timor, in the Netherlands East Indies, in one of the most remarkable feats of seamanship ever recorded.

The captain and his ship are pictured on the Pitcairn Island stamp above, one of the new series beginning Pitcairn's stamp issues.

There are two opinions of Bligh. One portrays him as a harsh disciplinarian, who ruled with a cat-o'-nine tails. The other makes Bligh no worse than most officers of the 18th century navy, who kept order with the only means he knew. England upheld his action, and he saw three of his leaders of the mutiny hanged.

Captain Bligh continued his career in the British navy, filled his orders to transplant breadfruit from Tahiti to the West Indies, the original purpose of the Bounty's voyage. He became governor of New South Wales and died in 1817, a vice-admiral.

President Demands "Swift and Driving Increase in Arms"

"The third is freedom from want—which, translated into world terms, means economic understandings which will secure every nation a healthy peace time life for its inhabitants—everywhere in the world."

"The fourth is freedom from fear—which, translated into world terms, means a world-wide reduction of armaments to such a point and in such a thorough fashion that no nation will be in a position to commit an act of physical aggression against any neighbor—anywhere in the world."

All current domestic problems, the president said, are linked to the emergency. He made several recommendations of an entirely domestic character.

As examples of the "many subjects connected with our social economy" which "call for immediate improvement" Mr. Roosevelt gave:

Extension of coverage of old-age pensions and unemployment insurance to more citizens.
Widening of opportunities for adequate medical care.
Planning of an improved system to permit persons deserving or needing gainful employment to obtain it.

Stating there was nothing mysterious about the foundations of a healthy and strong democracy, Mr. Roosevelt said "our people" expected these basic things of their political and economic system:

"Equality of opportunity for youth and for others."
"Jobs for those who can work."
"Security for those who need it."
"The ending of special privilege for the few."

"The preservation of civil liberties for all."
"The enjoyment of the fruits of scientific progress in a wider and constantly rising standard of living."

In these phrases, the president warned congress and the country against what he called "appeasement."

"As a nation we may take pride in the fact that we are soft-hearted," he said, "but we cannot afford to be soft-headed."

"We must always be wary of those who with sounding brass and tinkling cymbal preach the 'ism' of appeasement."

As long as the aggressor nations maintain the offensive they—not we—will choose the time and the place and the method of their attack.

We are committed to the proposition that principles of morality and considerations for our own security will never permit us to acquiesce in a peace dictated by aggressors and sponsored by appeasers.

conditions were blamed for at least two fatal highway accidents.

In one, Lewis Crissinger, 59, was killed in a collision near Montgomery, Lycoming county, and in the other, James H. Kressler, 37, Jonestown, father of six, was crushed to death when struck by a truck while putting chains on his car near Lebanon during a snowstorm.
